

THIS WEAK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition kept me worrying most of the time—and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard of you about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took it for weeks and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness."—Mrs. J. WORTHLINE, 2842 North Taylor St., Philadelphia, Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and energy; the result is invariably a weakening, run-down, nervous condition with headaches, backache, irritability and depression—and soon more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as it did to Mrs. Worthline.

POWDER IN SHOES AS WELL AS GUNS

Foot-Ease to be Added to Equipment of Hospital Corps

Under the above heading the Detroit Free Press, among other things says: "The theory is that soldiers whose feet are in good condition can walk further and faster than soldiers who have corns and bunions incised in rawhide."

The Plattsburgh Camp Manual advised men in training to shake Foot-Ease in their shoes each morning.

There is no foot comforter equal to Allen's Foot-Ease, the antiseptic healing powder to be shaken into the shoes and sprinkled in the foot-bat, for hot, tired, aching, perspiring, smarting, swollen, tender feet, corns, bunions, blisters or callouses. What wouldn't you give to be relieved of one day's pain of your corns and bunions? Here is relief for every day. You will realize this until you have tried Allen's Foot-Ease yourself. You simply forget all about your feet they are made so comfortable. Ask your druggist to-day for a package of ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE.

Handing perfectly at first, Foot-Ease is instructive and easy to understand, packed in a sharp, clear, "crayon" paper tube, perfectly

The New Modesty.

"The new modesty," said Clarence Underwood, the magazine illustrator, "has a frank quality. It is born of utility beauty. The old modesty was merely a desire to conceal ugliness."

"A beautiful girl in a white bathing dress came out of the water at Palm Beach the other day and advanced over the sand to her mother.

"Dear me!" the mother whispered. "You shouldn't have got white, darling. That suit is almost transparent."

"The girl smiled calmly.

"Don't worry," she said. "I'm not dead."—Detroit Free Press.

PHYSICALLY FIT AT ANY AGE

It isn't age, it's carelessness living that puts men down and out. Keep your interests outside your bed-room and you will always be physically fit.

The kidneys are the most over-worked organs in the human body. When they break down under the strain and the deadly uric acid accumulates and crystallizes look out! These sharp crystals may scratch the delicate urinary channels causing excruciating pain and set up irritations which may cause premature degeneration and often do turn into deadly Bright's Disease.

On the last earnings of sluggish kidney action in man or stiffness in the small of the back, loss of appetite, indigestion or rheumatism.

Do not wait until the danger is upon you. At the first indication of trouble go after the cause at once. Get trial box of GOLD MEDAL Kidney Oil Capsules. Prepared from the laboratories in Holland. They will give almost immediate relief. If for any cause they should not, your money will be refunded. But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL. None other is genuine. In sealed boxes, three sizes.—Adv.

Ancient Precautions.

"We'll have this friendly agreement of ours carved upon a monument of stone," said one ancient king.

"So that all the public can read it," added the other.

"Not only that. It will make it impossible to treat it as a scrap of paper."

Silent Before Johnson.

The other day a few men in the street were discussing capital punishment, when a young man named Johnson was observed approaching.

"Hush!" whispered a wag named Smith. "Stop the subject. Don't speak about hanging; I'll put him in mind of his grandfather."

Mr. Johnson came up and the company immediately started another and more lively theme.

About a week later Johnson, fairly flogging at the mouth, met Smith. He yelled: "Why the Dickens did you say that my grandfather was hanged? It's an infernal lie, sir; he died in his bed."

"Hanged!" exclaimed Smith. "My dear sir, I never alleged anything of the kind. We were speaking about hanging and I told the fellows to stop it, as it might put you in mind of your grandfather. Wasn't he a rascal?"

Letters Stopped Shrapnel.

Mrs. O. S. Moore of Emporia, Kan., has received a packet of torn and bloodstained letters from her son, Charles E. Moore, whose life was saved by the letters when they checked the force of shrapnel by which he was struck in the Champagne fighting. There are probably twenty letters and cards, and holes are torn in several of them, and holes are torn in several of them.

The shrapnel struck young Moore's right breast, and his right lung also was injured. He is in a hospital in Pelham Bay, N. Y., recovering from his injuries.

Prof. A. A. Ellsworth, who preceded Prof. Otterbein as superintendent of the Grayling schools, just finished another successful year as superintendent of the Stephenson Public schools at Stephenson, Mich. The school board of that place offered Prof. Ellsworth a fine increase in salary if he would remain with them another year; however he declined to accept a similar position with the school at Amasa, Iron county, with a still better salary. In writing local friends he says that the schools at Amasa support 17 teachers with special teachers in music, domestic science, domestic art, manual training and commercial work. During the summer vacation he will work for the American Book company as a traveling representative. The local friends of Prof. and Mrs. Ellsworth will be pleased to learn that they are getting along nicely. They are strong, valuable citizens for any community in which they may locate.

Otto Failing son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Failing and a member of the Red Arrow division, arrived home Tuesday morning, being discharged from service. The young man enlisted before he was eighteen years old, during the last summer the national guard were at Camp Ferris. He was a member of Co. I, 125th Infantry, formerly known as the old 33rd regiment. He seen service in France since February 1918, when this Infantry left Waco for overseas.

Miss Anna Nelson was in Pinconning several days of last week, going there to attend the marriage ceremony of Miss Anna Angers and Mr. Val Klumpp of that place which occurred at the Catholic parsonage. Thursday evening, and was officiated at by Rev. Fr. Racette of the church at that place. The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Angers of Pinconning, formerly of Grayling was attended by Miss Anna Nelson of Grayling, and Mr. Lee Angers, brother of the bride officiated as groomsman. The young wedded pair are at present enjoying a honeymoon trip in Detroit and Chicago, and on their return will make their home in Pinconning. Friends of the bride in Grayling will be pleased to learn of her marriage.

Wm. Woods, flagman at the Michigan Central-Lake street crossing was struck by an automobile that was being driven by Wm. Randolph Monday and severely bruised up, and bodily hurt internally, however no bones were broken. It is reported that the flagman signaled the auto to stop but instead the driver kept right on going. At the time north-bound train number 158, known as the Cannonball, was approaching the crossing and passed just at the time of the accident. When the auto struck the flagman, the driver had put on the break, otherwise it is very likely that the train would have crashed into the auto. Charles Adams and another railroad employee were present and witnessed the accident. The excuse of the auto driver, it is said, was that he "hot the flagman was only fooling."

Happy were Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Hans Petersen, when they returned home last Friday afternoon from Bay City accompanied by their respective sons, Clarence Johnson and Victor Petersen. The boys who were members of Ambulance company 128, 107th Sanitary train, had been met the day previous in Bay City by their parents. They were accompanied here by Sergeant Carl Smith, also a member of the same company, but who has been at his home in Bay City for some time, having returned with a casual company. The young man received a wound in the left arm at the battle of Juvigny that necessitated its amputation at the elbow. He had been an old pal of Clarence Johnson and during the time the encampment at Camp Ferris, had become known to many in Grayling. It is needless to say that Clarence Johnson and Victor Petersen were glad to get back home again, and their many friends are pleased to have them back among them.

For several years past it has been the custom of the Village council to pay to the Village treasurer a salary of $25.00 per year. This is in addition to the fees of 1% for the collection of taxes. Treasurer M. Hanson says that this salary has not been paid for the past three years and the Village council seems reluctant to pay accounts that should have been allowed by preceding councils.

Robbers entered the Andrew Peterson Jewelry store; Max Landberg Clothing store and Game's Meat market Monday night, and carried away some valuables. At the Peterson store, several pieces were taken, one gold necklace and a couple of gold chains, in all valued, Mr. Peterson says, at about $30.00. The McCaskey register was broken open at the Game market but nothing was missing. A few canned goods were taken here. At the Landberg store quantities of silk shirts, neckties, suit cases and other articles were taken. Entrances were made by the back door routes by either prying the doors open or breaking the glass and unlocking the door. The robbers got away on the 1:04 a. m. train.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Milks and the former's brother Lyle have packed their household goods and are moving to Detroit, where the former has a number of good opportunities to get into business or accept good positions. He has not yet fully decided just what he will finally do. The people of Grayling are indeed sorry to lose these highly esteemed citizens. Best wishes of many go with them. They will leave tonight for their new home.

FIXING LEAKY FOUNTAIN PEN

Really No Need to Put Up With Annoyance That Can Be Remained Easily.

If you have a fountain pen that leaks around the joints, especially so if it is one of those types of fountain pens having a point which disappears by turning a section of the barrel, try an application of heavy oil. To remedy the defect, soak the pen in warm water, not hot, and allow it to dry, particularly inside. Then apply oil on the spindle which revolves. The oil should be worked through the bearings from end to end. You can now refill the pen and wipe off the excess oil. A heavy cylinder oil is best for this purpose. To unscrew the parts of a fountain pen which have become set, merely heat the pen with hot water or by holding it near a flame, but be careful not to get too hot for there is danger of melting. While pen is heated a slight twist will often loosen the set. Frank P. Goeder, Colorado Agricultural College, Fort Collins, Colo.

all. I can't keep this up forever. Mo for a sensible girl."

And Bert meant it. He was a rather grave demeanor at all times. He took life seriously and could not understand the kind of people who strive to see the funny side at every opportunity.

He was sincerely in love with Genevieve, but he was afraid to try matrimony with her. So he decided the best thing would be to leave her alone for a while, at least; perhaps forever. As a result he stopped writing and quit making his Saturday calls.

One month was all he could stand. He had not heard from her, which was not at all unnatural considering his cessation of correspondence, but somehow he felt grieved over it.

"She might at least invite me down there once more," he thought. "Well, anyhow, I've just got to see her again. frivolous or not frivolous, although I suppose nothing will come of it. I'll surprise her, to make sure she won't refuse to see me just for spite."

About this time Bert's weekly holliday was shifted to Sunday, so for the first time he journeyed to Castlegrove on the Sabbath. Arriving at the village he made his way at once to the Walters' home, but was surprised and disappointed to find no one there.

Thinking perhaps the family had gone out for a walk and that he would meet them, he walked up the main street, which seemed to be even more deserted than usual. He saw only one or two pedestrians and an old man driving a scrawny horse, which was dragging a decrepit buggy.

Bert's walk led him past the little church, and it seemed that he could hear a choir singing. Yes, a choir was singing one of the old-time hymns.

Curiosity and lack of anything else to do prompted Bert to mount the steps and enter the building. As he did so the singing ceased and some one began talking. It was a woman, and there was something strangely familiar about the pleasant, well-modulated voice. He entered the vestibule and peered through the inner door.

There were perhaps fifty persons in the church listening intently to a young woman who stood in the pulpit. She was quoting from the Bible, saying: "Woe unto the foolish proverbs that follow their own spirit and have seen nothing."

Bert slipped into a seat at the back of the church and immediately fell under the spell of the sermon or of the young woman, or both. That the rest of the congregation was under the same spell was evident from the way every one leaned forward in his seat, hanging closely to every word that was uttered, with eyes fixed intently on the girl that gave voice to them. No one was sleeping or even drowsing.

When the services were concluded Bert sat in a daze while the others trailed out of the church.

"Too frivolous!" he said repeatedly to himself. "Here I've been criticizing her for smiling and looking on the bright side of things, because I thought she had no serious thoughts; and all this time she's been preaching. Talk about foolish prophets. I'm the prime one of the lot."

The girl who had delivered the sermon came along the aisle and stopped by his side. He leaped to his feet, groped for words, stammered and twisted his hat out of shape behind his back, like he was a peasant standing before a princess.

"Genevieve," he managed to say, "Genevieve, can you—can you forgive me for the way I have acted and—and for the things I have thought? And—and will you let me go home with you and will you—do you think you can listen to me while I—while I try that proposal over again?"

She smiled—that same old smile—and he was glad, because he had suddenly discovered that he liked it.

"Perhaps I ought not to forgive you," she responded, "but"—and she tapped the black, leather-covered book under her arm—"it's teaches us that forgiveness is right. Yes, you may come with me, Bert, and I'll listen to what you have to say. I was perfectly serious that other time; but you see sometimes a girl smiles to hide her emotion, and sometimes one gets so nervous that one has to keep the hands busy. That's why I couldn't stop playing the piano. I'll try this time, though."

"Please play it—and smile," pleaded Bert. "I'd dearly love to propose to music, and smiles beat tears all to pieces."

Washington's Advisers.

When Washington formed his cabinet it had but four members, the interior department being unknown, the war and navy departments being under one head, and the postmaster general being subordinate to the treasury. Nevertheless of these four positions, he gave two to Virginians, Secretary of State Jefferson and Attorney General Randolph; one to New York, Alexander Hamilton, and one to Massachusetts, Henry Knox.

Her Measure of Shame.

Little Mildred was very fond of ripe olives, and her mother had to watch to see that she did not overindulge. One day there was company, and Mildred managed to have the olive dish stopped near her plate.

After the meal her mother, pointing to the pile of pits on Mildred's plate, asked:

"How could you make such a pig of yourself? I should think you would be ashamed to see so many pits, and ashamed to have others see them."

Mildred hung her head and replied:

"I was. That was the reason I threw all the rest of them on the floor."

—Harper's Magazine.

Inherited Stature.

It is indicated by research that while short parents tend on the average to have short children, they may and frequently do transmit characteristics which lack the shortening element and have tall children. On the other hand, children of tall parents are always tall. The offspring of two very short or short parents are more variable in stature than the offspring of two very tall or tall parents. Also, whereas the offspring of two very short or short parents tend, on the average, to be less short than the parents, the offspring of very tall or tall parents do not tend to be less tall.

Not only is stature as a whole inherited, but also, and even more clearly, each segment of stature, such as neck, length of torso, thigh and foreleg. And the inheritance of the length of these segments follows the same law as does the length of stature as a whole.

Sympathetic Brothers.

The boys of the neighborhood were anticipating the time when they could go fishing. Everett, noticing his little sister standing inside the yard, watching them wistfully through the fence, and listening to their plans without joining the conversation, remarked in an aside to his companion: "Gee, it must be tough to be only a girl."

More Mileage Adjustment on Goodrich Tires

Fabrics - 6,000 Miles
Cords--8,000 Miles

TO automobile owners and drivers—to Goodrich Dealers—the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company herewith declares a more-mileage adjustment on Goodrich Tires—6,000 miles for SAFETY TREADS, and 8,000 miles for SILVERTOWNS.

Fix these new Goodrich Adjustment figures firmly in your mind—6,000 miles for SAFETY TREADS—8,000 miles for SILVERTOWNS—instead of the 3,500 and 5,000 miles respectively heretofore in force.

This new adjustment stands back of all Goodrich Tires, including tires already purchased in the hands of user or dealer.

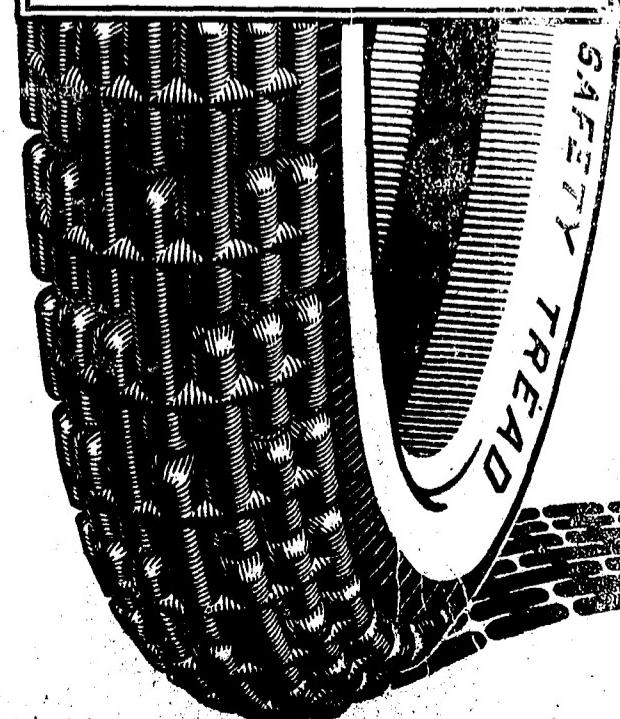

Goodrich Tires in actual usage on road and pavement are today unfolding such matchless mileage, regularly in excess of adjustment basis, that Goodrich knows it has the strongest, most durable tires the rubber industry has produced.

The Goodrich adjustment mileage is increased because Goodrich knows the mileage in its tires, and it wants to give every motorist a share in their economy, and all-around benefits.

Go to a Goodrich Dealer, and buy a Goodrich Tire—or buy four Goodrich Tires—sure that with fair and square usage a Safety Tread will render you at least 6,000 miles; and a Silvertown Cord at least 8,000.

"BEST IN THE LONG RUN"

THE COUNTY AGENT'S DREAM

(By Earl Robinson, State Leader, County Agent Work, New Hampshire.)

John Smith, County agent for some County in some State of the United States of America was justly resting beside his own fireside, surrounded by his small but perfectly fine family. It had been a rather uneventful day for John, only one tire having blown out, and but a comparatively few people having registered a kick against the County Agent system. His conscience did not hurt, and as he sat musing by the fire he finally fell asleep and dreamed a dream.

In his dream he thought he went to Heaven. Some might say that he went up "on high," but that is of no consequence, being only a question of terms. As he approached the great portals he thought of the rather superfluous words he sometimes used on dark, stormy nights far from home if he acquired a puncture in his left hind tire or his engine went dead. And that Annual report kept coming into his mind, and he wondered if his estimate of saving of $2.25 per acre as a result of formalin treatment of oats might not have been five or ten cents too high. His sins and shortcomings greatly worried him. Imagine his surprise therefore, as he came near the gate to see it swing wide open and no keeper to bar his progress. Once inside his curiosity became too great to resist. He sought the keeper of the gate, the good St. Peter and remarked that he was surprised to gain such ready admission. And Saint Peter grasping his hand cordially remarked: "You County Agents have unmistakable credentials when you come to the gate in your flivvers, for there is no mistaking that peculiar rattle. Knowing the trouble you men have on earth I never deny any of your class entrance into heaven. Therefore when I hear an uncouth idler along the narrow highway to the skies, I know it is a County Agent coming, and I throw open the gates. Take the road to the right to the County Agent section."

John Smith, Sainted County Agent, bowed along smoothly over the golden pavements of heaven. He was very happy. No matter which way he looked, glorious visions greeted the eye, and soft music was carried to the ear on the gentle breezes. The first glance told him nothing could be more beautiful. Imagining his surprise therefore when rounding a splendid curve in the celestial highway, there burst upon his vision the most superb and gorgeous landscape ever prepared for saints. It so far surpassed the most extravagant imagination of mortal man that there are no words in his language to describe it.

On every gate was a Farm Bureau membership sign, and there were many posters along the way calling attention to demonstrations being carried on. It was evident that everything was standardized for along the lowlands whole communities had nothing but Holstein cattle, and on smaller farms where more intensive farming was necessary there were whole communities with Jerseys and others with Guernseys. Everywhere the same variety of wheat was growing, and John recognized it immediately as Red Rock. The oats he did not recognize, but upon inquiry found they were not Wathy, Alexander, College, Weller, College success nor Wobering, but a later creation of Professor Spragg which so far surpasses the others that they were not in the same class. Rye was grown extensively upon the lighter soils and the varieties he found was Rosen.

So he rolled along the beautiful lanes of heaven until he came to a wonderful golden shaft which so attracted his attention that he got out of his Ford and came near enough to see the inscription on it, and this is what he read:

"Behold! Look about you and see the abode prepared for those who toiling faithfully, have been most often unappreciated and sometimes abused!" Behold this choicest corner of Heaven reserved for County Agricultural Agents and few of the other Elect of the Earth! Here tires are never punctured, radiators never leak, spark plugs never get sooty, gasoline never runs out. Here roads are always smooth and dry. Here demonstrators always follow directions, and demonstrations never fail. Here formaldehyde always kills the smut and never injures the seed. Here hog cholera serum are always effective and disinfectants are not needed, and here new varieties always come up to expectations and do not get mixed. Here salary checks come promptly on the first day of the month. Here no reports are required and Boards of Supervisors—"

Just at this point he was awakened by his wife who was trying to tell him that Bill Jones of the Hicksville Grange had just phoned to inquire why he had not shown up at their meeting, as they were expecting him to address them on the subject, "What Can the County Agent do to help us Farmers?"
